

MONTHLY UPDATE

The recess from Parliament in early March allowed Stephanie to spend some quality time with constituents in the riding. She was energized by all of the enthusiasm and support of the residents of Calgary Midnapore.

IN AND AROUND THE RIDING

Early in the month, Stephanie was pleased to take part in the O Canada Awards, organized by the Canadian Times newspaper. It was a special celebration of Canada, community, and those who make it great.

Stephanie appreciated the opportunity to attend the informative "Follow the Money" seminar, hosted by Moody's Gartner Tax Law LLP and Sequeira Partners, where Vivian Krause (above left) spoke to a room full of concerned Calgarians about foreign funded activism in Canada. Stephanie is deeply concerned about foreign funded interference - an incredibly serious problem in Canada that touches almost every aspect of our democracy. Stephanie takes every opportunity to speak out against it.

Two schools in the riding (David Thompson Middle School and Father James Whelihan) invited Stephanie visit their students to discuss civics and the role of an MP. She was impressed by the intelligent questions posed by the students and appreciated the chance to spend time with tomorrow's leaders.

Girl Guides Patrols #76 and #39 offered Stephanie another opportunity to engage with Calgary Midnapore youth. She accepted an invitation to join them for their meetings, where they chatted about Canada's parliamentary system and what it's like to be a female in leadership. Stephanie and these young women had a lot of fun carrying out a mock House of Commons debate.

FEDERAL CONCERNS

Recess weeks also offer an opportunity to meet with constituents. Recently Stephanie spoke with Mr. McGrath, who shared the tragic story of the loss of his daughter. Stephanie is working with his family to look for tangible ways she can help, such as a parliamentary e-petition. BILD Calgary updated Stephanie on mortgage stress test rules, the struggles that first-time home buyers are experiencing, and the impact on home builders. She also met with Jonathan Neufeld of TecTerra, who shared more about the work being done with Calgarian entrepreneurs in the technology industry.

On March 7th, Stephanie spoke to a packed house at her Town Hall Q&A and thanked the residents of Calgary Midnapore for engaging with her on a number of important issues; from Bill C-69, TMX, SNC-Lavalin and ethics breaches, to trade tensions with China, terrorism, and the Liberal debt. These are all issues on which CPC leader, Andrew Scheer, and the entire Conservative Party of Canada team are working hard every day.

Stephanie hears frequently from constituents of Calgary Midnapore how the Carbon Tax is hurting their families. She will continue to speak out against it, as she did at an Anti-Carbon Tax protest on Parliament Hill this month. Watch and read more about the protest here.

REPRESENTING YOU

The Canadian Hispanic Congress and the Consulate of Ecuador in Toronto invited Stephanie to participate in a panel at the 5th Conference for the Empowerment of Women in Etobicoke. Stephanie enjoyed their discussion on the importance of participation of immigrant women in all levels of government.

Stephanie arrived back in Ottawa for significant debates on the SNC-Lavalin scandal and the 2019 budget, including a 30-hour marathon voting session! During the votes, she participated in a Facebook Live event with her colleague, MP Rachael Harder where they discussed the reason for the extended session; the need to let the former Attorney General speak - and tell her full story. You can catch all of this news and more on Stephanie's Facebook Page.
